

PLACER COUNTY JUVENILE JUSTICE
DELINQUENCY PREVENTION COMMISSION
ANNUAL INSPECTION REPORT

2012

Welfare & Institutions Code Section 229.5

(a) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, a juvenile justice commission may inquire into the operation of any group home that serves wards or dependent children of the juvenile court and is located in the county or region the commission serves. The commission may review the safety and well-being of wards or dependent children placed in the group home and the program and services provided in relation to the home's published program statement.

(b) In conducting its review, the commission shall respect the confidentiality of minors' records and other information protected under other provisions of law. It may review court or case records of a child provided it keeps the identities of minors named in those records confidential, and may review the financial records of a group home. However, the commission may not review the personnel records of employees or the records of donors to the group home.

(c) The commission shall give the group home manager at least 24 hours' advance notice of a visit to a group home. If the commission believes that there is a serious violation of applicable licensing laws or regulations or that residents of a group home are in danger of physical or mental abuse, abandonment or other substantial threat to their health and safety, the commission shall notify the Community Care Licensing Division of the State Department of Social Services for appropriate action, shall consult with the presiding judge of the juvenile court and chief probation officer as to whether or not a visit is appropriate, and shall notify other juvenile justice commissions of its actions, as appropriate.

(d) Upon the completion of a visit, if the commission finds any condition in the group home that poses a danger to its residents or otherwise violates any applicable law, ordinance, or regulation, the commission shall verbally advise the group home manager of its findings, unless it determines that the advisement could be detrimental to the children placed there, and shall send written confirmation of its findings to the group home manager within 14 days. The commission may also report its findings to the presiding judge of the juvenile court, chief probation officer, State Department of Social Services, or other juvenile justice commissions as appropriate. A group home manager may meet with the juvenile justice commission, chief probation officer, county welfare director, juvenile court, or the State Department of Social Services to resolve any problem or to submit a plan of correction.

Commissioners Narrative:

The purpose of this facility is to provide emergency housing, counseling and family intervention for non-adjudicated youth. The RFP was initiated by Placer County in 2001 and the doors opened in 2003 as a group home licensed facility under Koinonia Group Homes, a division of Koinonia Foster Homes, Inc. The ages of the youth served are between twelve and seventeen.

The program staff works closely with youth on social skills as well as life skills and skills needed in order to return to the family setting. Residents and staff have all meal times together in a family setting. Often times the youth's parents/guardians are active in the transitional phase of returning home. This program has been found to be very successful with students and their families.

The inspection team found the house to be clean and comfortable. The inspection team interviewed Jeff Adorador, Social Worker/MFT about how the program has evolved in his 4 years with the program. The inspection team also interviewed a 15 year-old girl who currently resides in the house. She informed the commission that she feels safe in the house and appreciates the program. She is very aware of the grievance policy although she has never had to use it. She stated that the house provides structure, safety and a family atmosphere.

The Koinonia Crisis Resolution Center is a unique facility that provides a rare service for youth who are in crisis in Placer County.

The Juvenile Justice/Delinquency Prevention Commission of Placer County finds that the Koinonia Crisis Resolution Center is in compliance with California State Licensing Regulations.
